Believe Belong Become Renee Y. Moore 2021-06-10 What price is a man's soul? In South Africa, I have heard native folks refer to rhinos as prehistoric animals that refused to die. I like rhinos. Back in the States, I saw the zombies of decaying resentment, unresolved anger that twists the spirit, toxic hatred that cripples the soul, and the stench of bitterness that rots the bones. I thought of the misery and frustration of these half-dead bodies walking the earth, having forgotten who and what they are, wanting to live and needing to die. God is the Creator. The devil is not a creator but a perverter of what is already there. Can't spoil milk or spill it if there is no milk in the glass. The adversary of our souls knows God made us to replace him. From the first cry of humanity from the womb, Satan hears the voice of God, the voice of our Savior from Mary's womb, saying, "Crucify Me. Here I am." Because God wanted you back, He sent His Word made flesh in Jesus Christ, who never allowed the enemy to have you. It takes courage to surrender that one brain cell you have left to Jesus. It's easy to be a zombie and let the corrupt world use your soul to grease the wheels of a corrupt, doomed system already judged by God. Vengeance belongs to God. He is The Resurrection.

Daughter of a Black Widow Rhonda E. Carroll 2019-03-30 In the time of death, in general, who turns their full attention towards the children? Being the daughter of one whose father was removed from this earth by death, I can speak from personal experience of what it is like once all of the noise is quieted. After all of the services and recognitions, children are left with the aftermath of a loss while wondering how the living parent is doing too. This book, The Daughter of a Black Widow, shares a firsthand account of the thoughts and feelings of a ten-year-old girl after the death of her father. This girl witnesses the movements of her mother and shares how these movements helped to shape her life in a way that is destined to leave a prominent legacy.

The Beauty of Godliness Brenda Victoria Boone 2010-08-17 Dear Heavenly Father, I come to you in the Name of Jesus giving you all the praise that is due your name. I want you to know how much I love you. I want to take the time out to say, thank you for allowing me the opportunity to share our relationship with others who are seeking you. I ask You to give them a desire to want to know you more. I want them to know, You choose whom You please. No one knows who has been called to do a work until You have need of them. The calling does not come from man, but it comes from You. Let them know one day, You will be walking by them and something about them will catch Your eye. Somewhere inside Your heart, You will decide You have need of them. I hope this book has inspired them to hunger and thirst after righteousness so they can see how good You really are. May it draw them closer to you and move them into a personal relationship with you. Show them who You really are as a Father and a God. It is a must for me to close out with our favorite line; "I love you, Father, I love you daughter, you will always be mine." In Jesus Name Amen.

Understanding Your Creative Identity Dr. Ekaete Ettang . Title of this booklet is: UNDERSTANDING MY CREATIVE IDENTITY. It is the second in the Daughters of Sarah Ministry Eight (8) volume SPIRITUAL IDENTITY THEFT series, which begins with: INTRODUCING SPIRITUAL IDENTITY THEFT(Volume 1) and concludes with: THE NEED FOR TRAINING(VOLUME 8) . SPIRITUAL IDENTITY THEFT SERIES . VOLUME TITLE . 1 INTRODUCING SPIRITUAL IDENTITY THEFT . 2 UNDERSTANDING MY CREATIVE IDENTITY . 3 PREFERRED VS AUTHENTIC IDENTITY . 4 APPRECIATING MY RECREATED IDENTITY . 5 TARGETED THREAT . 6 WINNING STRATEGIES . 7 THE EMPOWERED IDENTITY . 8 THE NEED FOR TRAINING It is very important for every person to know, understand and operate within his/her God given identity, yet the matter of true identity is one of the most ignored and misunderstood among Christians today. So many are making choices based on their preferences or feelings instead of the truth as revealed in the Scriptures. Amid the confusion in the world today, it is clear that the Christians; especially Christian youths are targeted. Many are losing their spiritual identity in the market place and operating in the flesh just as the unbelieving youths. We must focus on knowing our identity in Christ and training others to boldly stand with the knowledge of this unshaken identity in Christ in order to resist the pressures to conform to the mould of the world. This is 'True Empowerment!' The Church should be about the business of empowering the emerging leaders for the glory of God. In view of this, the Lord has brought out this work for a time like this. While this is still a work in progress, we sense the urgency to begin to release it in bits to edify the Church while trusting God to complete what He has started. What you have in your hand is one of these booklets and we encourage you to get and read the other booklets for your edification. The Booklets Titles are:

1.Introducing Spiritual Identity Theft 2. Understanding My Creative Identity 3.Preferred VS Authentic Identity Appreciating My Recreated Identity 4. Targeted Threat 5. Winning Strategies 6. The Empowered Identity 7. The Need For Training God bless you

The Beauty in the Womb-Man Rhonda Carroll 2004-02-01 The Beauty in the Womb-Man is a self-revealing work that turns the light on and shows you that you have valuable things to say, outstanding words to share, and eternal wisdom to give! Having obtained a degree in Christian Counseling, Dr. Carroll embarked upon her own personal journey of self-awareness, self-enhancement, self-enlightenment and self-empowerment. Through the years she has passed on this baton of power to women as she's traveled the world over. Make no mistake about it you are included in this self-realization and this reality will become clearer to you as you turn through the pages of this soul-searching work!

She Is Beautiful Linda Jackson 2018-07-07 She is Beautiful recaptures the very essence of true beauty through the eyes of a loving God. It addresses the struggles women of color have in today's society as they seek the confidence and boldness to be authentic and appreciative of their cultural differences. The author points them back to their Creator and reminds them of His loving intent for their good. This small but potent book is perfect for recalibrating your view of self through the eyes of a God who affectionately calls us His beloved. The author states, "The Beauty of a woman can be described in Adam's examination of Eve, "And Adam said, this is now bone of my bones, and flesh of my flesh: she shall be called Woman, because she was taken out of Man." (Genesis 5:23 KJV). What Adam saw looking back at him was so intimate and personal; he describes her as bone of my bone flesh of my flesh. I believe in that moment he saw more than just her outward beauty; Adam saw the essence of who Eve was. Adam saw her worth at first glance, and the fact she was made for him. That she..... woman was a priceless jewel, he saw her fullness. Here she stood the mother of all creation a great and marvelous mystery. Through this creature man would be born. Throughout time she would fulfill her role in creation becoming the help meet God intended for Adam. In Unity, they would rule with dominion and power over this world. Staring back at him, Adam saw something so deep and profound; this beautiful Eve could become a birthing station for all the Kingdom of God. As we take this journey together I want us to understand as women we were created for a very specific reason. viii In your DNA lies the ability to create, not only from a natural standpoint of bringing life into this world but we also have a spiritual womb which nurtures the things and ideas of God to help bring forth the Kingdom of God. Within you, you can birth nations all for the glory of God. You possess the tenacity to travail and bring the very will of God into fruition. It is time for us to rise and understand this beautiful mystery, the mystery of her beauty!" You are beautiful to God, He intended it to be that way!

The Magnificent Life Anthony Norvell 2022-05-19 There is a constant and impelling urge within man to find the Magnificent Life. This inner urge colors his emotions and his every experience. It causes him to search far and wide for the Good, the Beautiful, the Opulent, the Creative and inspiring forces of life. The Philosophy of the Magnificent Life is one admirably adapted to the crying needs of this age of Materiality. On all sides war, confusion, chaos and destruction greet man. The future of civilization hangs precariously in the balance; nations are tottering on the brink of disaster; atom bombs threaten to obliterate all that man has achieved. It is in such bleak times that the soul of man cries loudest in the Stygian darkness; then that the inner promptings cause man to look to the spiritual dawning for the light that announces the New Age. It is then that the Magnificence Inherent in man rises to meet the challenge of obliteration; then that he is prompted by the divinity within to find new hope and courage; to tackle anew the problems which engulf him, and to leave for posterity another brilliant page of achievement in his historic rise from the dismal, miasmatic swamps of life. This book traces the spectacular ascent of man's struggling soul to find the light. It is particularly fitting that man's final epitaph should be termed 'Magnificent' for in his rise upward from the primordial forces that have always threatened him with extinction, there is something of greatness in his deeds, and something exalted in his aspirations. His climb has been marked by splendid achievements, and he has lavished upon the elements of which his life consists the prodigal talents which he has wrested from the womb of time itself.

The Pit of Raeben Kenneth Paul Jones 2011-08-01 The Pit of Raeben is a tale told in turn by three enlightened trees. This is the first of three parts describing how the oldest of them was laid to rest. The Pit itself was dug by the Clan Destined being known as Raeben; an entity with a penchant for naming things. Drawn by the beauty of a quietly spinning planet, Raeben reaches out and touching it he declares, "I will call you Earth." The touch of Raeben though slight is not without consequence as it initiates the evolution of Man. Earth suffers and Raeben looks for a means by which he might tame Man's reckless behavior. Unwilling to touch earth a second time, Raeben creates a sister planet on the opposing side of Sol upon which he might better study Man. Besides the enlightened trees, Raeben populates his new world with three human-like species of mentors: the determined Mekhali warriors; the gifted, though humble, Kessl; and the very social elves of Zarust. Tarot, a wiser being of the Clandestine, obliges Raeben to cease his meddling once he has finished populating his world. Tarot makes Raeben swear he will not make even a single change after his world is complete... unless he does it as a man and with his own two hands. The greatest secret amongst the universe is that a Clandestine can never refuse an oath. This is the First Law of the Clan Destined; the second being: one is as one asks of another. Raeben then digs the Womb of Areth with his own two hands and leaves. Unfortunately, treachery has been unleashed upon Areth; his designs fall awry and it does not take long for the womb to turn into a pit of seething chaos.

The Beauty of Loving You Viola Monreaux 2018-06-06 Every woman has that moment where they've gone too far in the name of love... Viola must have been every woman because there never seemed to be a "too far". Her love for man was limitless since the day she left the womb. She believed in love, and Viola's life goal was to achieve her happily ever after.

Unfortunately for her, this was real life, and wasn't shit all peaches, cream, flowers, and fidelity. Viola was a woman amongst women and could hold her own in a crowd of the baddest. She was smart, charismatic, and stunning. But was she worth love? That was the question that burned in her young heart since the day her father had replaced her with dope. Viola was convinced then, that love simply didn't exist... until she met first love, her high-school sweetheart, Marco. Marco was a young thug, but Viola loved him at first sight, and though the love was mutual, unexpected life events tore then out of each other's lives. Viola, now having known what love felt like, is addicted to it. With Marco gone, Viola goes on an endless journey trying to get that fleeting feeling back. The only issue is that she seems to continuously offer her best love to the worst men. This intense yearning for affection leads Viola to find herself in a plague of affairs with a medley of men that result in failed relationships, drugs, abuse, and excessive bodily harm. Viola reaches rock bottom... What more does a girl have to do to be loved? Is love and affection worth everything... even her life?

The Vagrant Thoughts of a Wandering Man Mathews Abraham Athiyalil 2017-01-16 In this bouquet of poems I present to you my humble thoughts in simple words on a variety of topics. I have sung about the beauty of love. I have tried to let you hear the sighs and sobs in silence of struggling and suffering people. I have expressed my concerns about our planet and the need to keep it clean and green. I have written about the bond between God and man and his despair despite the prayers he raises. I have also shown the dark side of humanity wondering how man can oppress, exploit, enslave and kill others and sadly, try to justify it. Here, you can hear the muffled, dying cries of a new born girl child. Some songs are my thoughts that loved to wander far on the wide wings of the flying wind. Through most of the poems on social themes I am appealing to the conscience of the people to abandon violence particularly against women, children and the weak and to build a beautiful world of peace and love. May the humorous poems bring a smile on your face and laughter in your soul. Hope you will enjoy reading the book.

Man, the Image of God Christoph Cardinal Schonborn 2011 God created man in his own image, and the profound implications of this assertion are the subject of this book. Drawing on philosophy, theology, science, Scripture and art, Cardinal Schnborn reflects on man as the greatest of Gods creatures and on the Christian understanding of his incomparable dignity that flows from this truth. According to the Christian faith, all the works of God converge toward man, and find their goal in him. The world was made for man, and man was made for God. This anthropocentrism resounds like good news at a time when many find it hard to believe in Gods special and personal providence for man. It is good news, indeed, that man has worth and his life has meaning because God bears an infinite love for him a love which is the very origin of creation and is the reason for the work of redemption. Among the topics Cardinal Schonborn addresses are: Christ-the Loveliest of Men, The Exaltation of Man, The Basis of Mans Dignity, Faith in Art, God with a Human Face.

Mother Earth: Monthly Magazine Devoted to Social Science and Literature Various Authors THERE was a time when men imagined the Earth as the center of the universe. The stars, large and small, they believed were created merely for their delectation. It was their vain conception that a supreme being, weary of solitude, had manufactured a giant toy and put them into possession of it. When, however, the human mind was illumined by the torch-light of science, it came to understand that the Earth was but one of a myriad of stars floating in infinite space, a mere speck of dust. Man issued from the womb of Mother Earth, but he knew it not, nor recognized her, to whom he owed his life. In his egotism he sought an explanation of himself in the infinite, and out of his efforts there arose the dreary doctrine that he was not related to the Earth, that she was but a temporary resting place for his scornful feet and that she held nothing for him but temptation to degrade himself. Interpreters and prophets of the infinite sprang into being, creating the "Great Beyond" and proclaiming Heaven and Hell, between which stood the poor, trembling human being, tormented by that priest-born monster, Conscience. In this frightful scheme, gods and devils waged eternal war against each other with wretched man as the prize of victory; and the priest, self-constituted interpreter of the will of the gods, stood in front of the only refuge from harm and demanded as the price of entrance that ignorance, that asceticism, that self-abnegation which could but end in the complete subjugation of man to superstition. He was taught that Heaven, the refuge, was the very antithesis of Earth, which was the source of sin. To gain for himself a seat in Heaven, man devastated the Earth. Yet she renewed herself, the good mother, and came again each Spring, radiant with youthful beauty, beckoning her children to come to her bosom and partake of her bounty. But ever the air grew thick with mephitic darkness, ever a hollow voice was heard calling: "Touch not the beautiful form of the sorceress; she leads to sin!" But if the priests decried the Earth, there were others who found in it a source of power and who took possession of it. Then it happened that the autocrats at the gates of Heaven joined forces with the powers that had taken possession of the Earth; and humanity began its aimless, monotonous march. But the good mother sees the bleeding feet of her children, she hears their moans, and she is ever calling to them that she is theirs.

Womb of Time Laljee Verma 2020-10-22 Concept of Time and God have drawn deep interest and attention of thinkers and philosophers. The book has 6 chapters; Book I "Time Immortal" is about timelessness of Time, and a hypothetical dialogue in imagery between Time and God. The chapter ends wondering: "God is timeless, or Time is godless No one knows, none can answer!" Man's intent to root out evil has been a running story of human failure. Mankind has not succeeded in suppressing demonic thoughts, any time; any better. Book II contains a metaphorical account of mythical fight between goddess Durga and demon Mahishasur, and reminds us: "Moon cannot shine in the absence of sun, Nor the clouds float without wind, Man cannot survive without nature, And god- concept without a fiend!" Hindu scriptures say that the earth was resurrected from abyss of darkness. Book III "Resurrection" is about the rebirth of earth from the abysmal darkness. It has been a dream or fantasy of man to create a heaven on earth. Book IV "The Endeavour" is on this theme. Book V "Divine Fusion" is about meeting of purush and prakriti, meeting of man and woman, and eternal love. Lastly Book VI "God Delusion" is as it suggests.

Women and Pilgrimage in Medieval Galicia Carlos Andrés González-Paz 2015-02-28 For many in the Middle Ages, pilgrimages were seen to represent a clear risk of moral and religious perdition for women, and they were strongly discouraged from making them; this exhortation would have been universally disseminated and generally followed, except, of course, in the case of the virtuous 'extraordinary women', such as saints and queens. Women and Pilgrimage in Medieval Galicia represents an analysis of the social history of women based on documentary sources and physical evidence, breaking away from literary and historiographical stereotypes, while at the same time contributing to a critical assessment of the myth that medieval women were kept hidden away from the world. As the chapters here show, women - and not only those 'extraordinary women', but also women from other social strata - became pilgrims and travelled the paths that led from their homes to the most important Christian shrines, especially - although not exclusively - Jerusalem, Rome and Santiago de Compostela. It can be seen that medieval women were actively involved in this ritualistic expression of devotion, piety, sacrifice or penitence. This situation is thoroughly documented in this multidisciplinary book, with emphasis both on the pilgrimages abroad from Galicia and on the pilgrimages to the shrine of St James at Compostela.

Between Woman, Man and God Hagith Sivan 2004-08-01 According to the demands of the Decalogue, manhood entails the avoidance of stealing, killing, and coveting, not to mention apostasy and violation of the Sabbath and other men's property. What, then, would be the essence of womanhood, if different? By selecting female characters' narratives as interpretative clues for the "law," this book presents a legal, behavioral, and representational reading of the Decalogue. Beginning with an analysis of the legal contents of each Commandment through allied legal texts which relate to women and to the feminine, each chapter continues with an investigation of the ways in which the activities of the female and male protagonists of select narratives elucidate the range of Commandments.

The Narrow Path (Words of Wisdom That Will Clear Up Your Life) Sean Mosley 2013-02-01 Words of wisdom that will clear up your life. Psychologists believe that our capacity as human beings depends on what our minds truly believe to be possible. "It is all in the mind", as they say. In order to show how simple this idea is, a concrete example may serve to illustrate it.

Studia Patristica J. Baun 2010-05-05 Papers presented at the Fifteenth International Conference on Patristic Studies held in Oxford 2007 (see also Studia Patristica 44, 45, 46, 47 and 48). The successive sets of Studia Patristica contain papers delivered at the International Conferences on Patristic Studies, which meet for a week once every four years in Oxford; they are held under the aegis of the Theology Faculty of the University. Members of these conferences come from all over the world and most offer papers. These range over the whole field, both East and West, from the second century to a section on the Nachleben of the Fathers. The majority are short papers dealing with some small and manageable point; they raise and sometimes resolve questions about the authenticity of documents, dates of events, and such like, and some unveil new texts. The smaller number of longer papers put such matters into context and indicate wider trends. The whole reflects the state of Patristic scholarship and demonstrates the vigour and popularity of the subject.

The Holy Essence in Sin Anthony Ajayi 2015-04-24 The book hopes to enlighten the mind of mankind to separate the soul from the conscious acknowledgement of guilt and to see the beauty of the imperfection of man in the structure of God to exalt the sovereignty of God. Until the soul understands the wisdom behind this naked imperfection and appropriately respond to the demand for this essence of God's goodwill which God hopes to express through sinful nature of flesh, he would remain limited by guilt and be dead and isolated from the beautiful life which is the streaming light of the imagination of God issued from the spring of the holy Spirit that God freely gives to everyone who understands this mystery that has a root in the thought of God which is the need behind and the lesson ahead of the creation and destiny of humanity. It is a universal message...the voice of a new dawn and the revival of the soul from the decay caused by guilt and oblivion from the original conception of God.

Man & Woman Sree Sree Mentu Maharaj 2012-12-05 This book is a compilation of words about man and woman given by Sree Sree Mentu Maharaj over many years. His spontaneous insights addressed individual circumstances and continue to have universal relevance today. Sree Sree Mentu Maharaj (1921-2002) was a realized soul, a living embodiment of love, a best friend and spiritual guide to many. He gave advice about subjects ranging from the mundane to the profound. He encouraged everyone to be true to his or her own faith, and promoted introspection, affirmations of innate goodness, and caring service. He said that the foundations of inner peace and coexistence in a peaceful society lie in the individual adjustment of men and women and of their relations with each other. The causes of many problems in life are found in the complex interrelationships between men and women. Many difficulties can be overcome by recognizing small yet significant differences between the sexes, or by understanding seemingly insignificant yet fundamental behaviour traits.

The Beauty of Holiness and the Holiness of Beauty John Saward 1997 This book is a unique meditation on the beauty of Christ and His saints and centers on several works of art by Fra Angelico. Saward has written a book not on art history but on the splendor of Catholic truth. Beauty is the splendor of truth.
